Summer

The boardwalk at Seaside is a favorite spot for us Jersey kids.

Summer is the time for fun in the sun. Hanging out with friends, working, vacations: this is the definition of summer, most Dayton students would agree with. The warm, sunny weather and all the relaxation makes summer almost everyone's favorite season.

A typical summer day can vary from person to person. Senior Taylor McQueen's typical summer day consists of working and "wherever the night takes [her]." This mentality matches that of many Dayton students during summer break. Katie Ghilino, a senior who doesn't work during the summer, sleeps in late, then "chill[s] out for a few hours, see[s] what [her] friends are doing, [goes] out, [comes] home, sleep[s], and then get[s] ready to do it all over again the next day."

Trips down the shore are a must for most of us Jersey kids. Wildwood, Seaside, and Pier Village are all popular spots. Common activities include chillin' on the boardwalk, tanning in the sand, and surfing.

Most students at Jonathan Dayton would agree that the best thing about summer is the time off from school, the worst, as Taylor McQueen says, "It's too short!" But as the summer comes to a close, though many would never admit it, people start getting excited about going back to school. Seeing people they haven't seen in months, picking out the perfect outfit, and all other first-day rituals are what makes the first day back so exciting.

One final word to describe summer from Katie Ghilino, "Freedom." Unfortunately, it is short-lived.

Nick, Annie, Brianna, and Dan get ready to go out.

Kevin hides from the sun in his big hat.

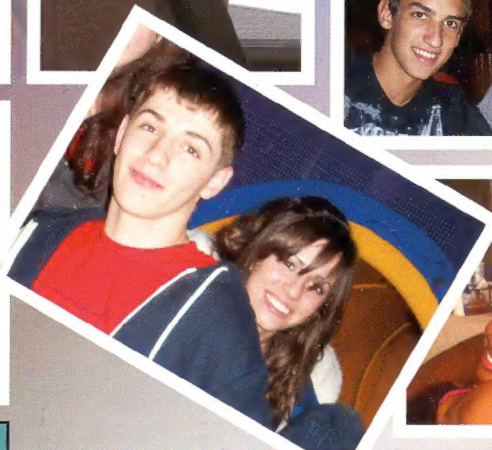

Summer and good friends!

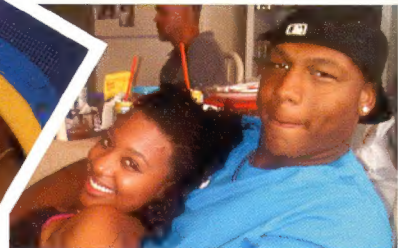

Rebecca and Farhanah and have fun in the sun.

After tanning all day, Kayla and Rachel get dressed up for a night on the town.

Matt and Rachel hang out on a cold summer night.

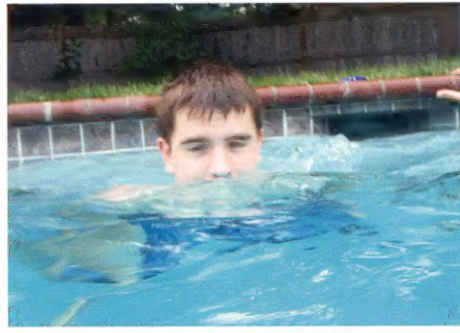

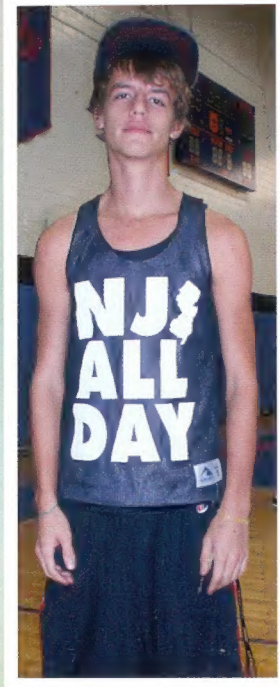

Taylor and Kareem chill out on a lazy summer day.

PROM 2010

Prom Princess and Prince

After countless hours of planning the most perfect evening, Dayton's prom took place on May 27, 2010, at the Westin Hotel in Morristown. The ballroom was decorated beautifully to go along with the theme of classic elegance. "The prom committee did a great job with the decorations," says senior Keith Heleno.

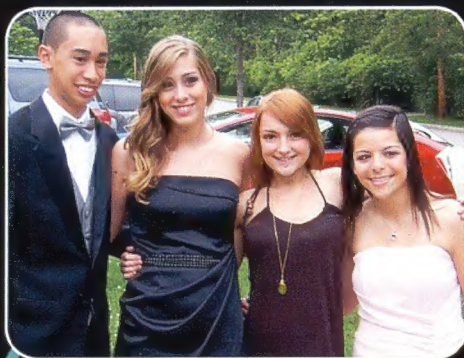

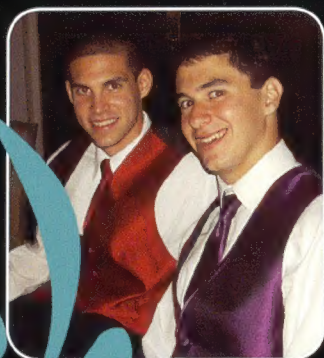

Girls arrived wearing both long and short vibrant elegant dresses while the boys cleaned up nicely with their tuxes. Upon entering the facility, students posed for pictures, voted for their Prom Prince and Princess and then began to dance away.

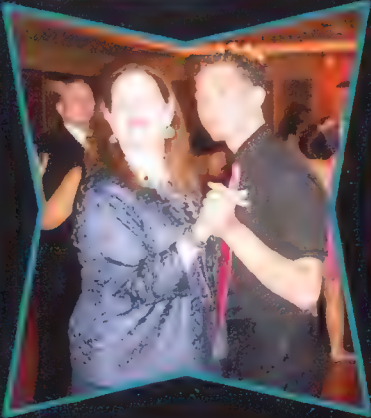

Throughout the night, students socialized, ate, took pictures, and laughed as they enjoyed taking in the elegant theme of the night. Hours of dancing and eating were briefly interrupted for the announcement of Prom Prince and Princess. And to their excitement, Max Webb and Remy Schneier were crowned Prince and Princess by their peers. "I was really surprised and honored when I was announced Princess. I was also happy to find out Max was Prince because we're best friends," said senior Remy Schneier when thinking back on that moment. They were presented with their crowns and shared a dance together.

The 2010 prom was an unforgettable night. From the black tie attire to the elegant-theme, students shared in a magical night never to be forgotten.

It's that time of year again; it's homecoming! After the heart stopping game against North Warren, ending in a victory of 18 to 16, the bulldogs rushed home to get ready for a night of disco lights and music. "Gabby Defronzo came over, we both did our make up and hair, then had my mom take a ton of pictures," Kendall Bohannon explained. "I love to get ready with the girls," Charlotte Slattery added.

The music was playing and the hands were in the air. Mike Jacques and Aaron Williams barely let me finish the question before they answered, "Keri Hilson and Megan Fox". The question: Who would they take as a date to Homecoming? As for the girls Shannon Majewski would prefer Johnny Weir, "because he's fierce." Kendall, on the other hand, is partial to football star, Austin Collie. "He'd be my date for sure. No two ways about it. Who wouldn't want to go to homecoming with NFL wide receiver?!"

Homecoming

by Taylor McQueen

"A memory is a way of holding onto things you love, the things you wear and the things you never want to lose." The Wonder Years

Once the lights were on and the last song was being played, it was the end; the last high school homecoming dance was over for the seniors. Many were trying to create their last memories at a JDHS homecoming dance. "This homecoming was by FAR the best of all four years! I had so much fun and I'll never forget it," Kendall and Charlotte explained as they reminisced about the perfect Saturday.

King and Queen, Zak Glennon and Jackie Gallant, both looked surprised and excited when their names were announced. "Hmm I was really nervous when we got called up and then I was really surprised when I won, then pretty disoriented from winning, and then really excited," Jackie explained after getting her crown.

When I flipped the question on to the partygoers, Shannon was quick to answer, "I wouldn't be shocked because I'm secretly a real princess." Fortunately she was willing to share the spotlight with her teachers. "I pick Mr. Fugere and Mrs. Ornovitz because they have great chemistry (get it)."

Bottom: Angel Liggins and Alexa McCaffrey look cute as they dance the night away. I smell "Class Couple" nomination next year.

Below: Everyone bow down to your Homecoming King and Queen, seniors Zak Glennon and Jackie Gallant.

SCHOOL SPIRIT

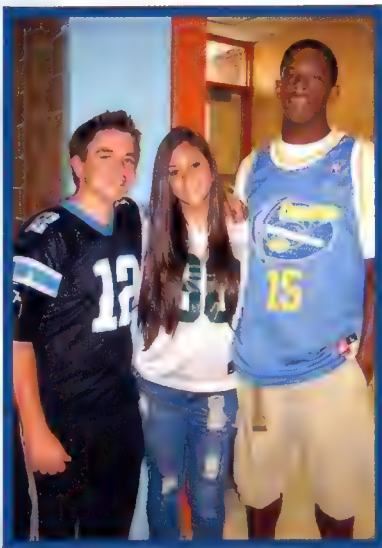

By: Ali Gutkin

One of the main components here at Jonathan Dayton High School is school spirit. Whether it's sporting events or Field Day, students and faculty arrange ways for the student body to show their school spirit and become involved. The fall pep rally and Interclass Games are two major ways in which Jonathan Dayton shows its school spirit every year.

When arriving back to school, in September, everyone assumes a new role in Dayton. Everyone is now a year older, and more excited than ever to reconnect with friends and peers. What makes it most exciting, though, is the Fall Pep Rally at the end of September. For the first time of the new school year, the whole school gets to come together, in a sea of blue, white, and orange. Senior Peter Bianco, a participant of the fall pep rally, explains, "I like our school colors a lot, because no other school has them, and we definitely stand out." Pep rallies aren't the only way Jonathan Dayton students get enthusiastic. Another huge school spirited event here at Dayton is interclass games.

Although interclass games only take place once a year, it is one of the most favored school spirited events. What's more fun than competing against other grades? Freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors compete in several different, exciting events to see which grade is declared to be "the best." Since there are not enough spots for every student to participate in these games, most students enjoy cheering on the members of their classes. When asked about Interclass Games, senior Mara Weissberg clarifies, "I don't usually participate in any events, so my favorite part of interclass games is sign making." Each grade is allowed to decorate the section of the gym they are given, by creating posters and signs to encourage their grade.

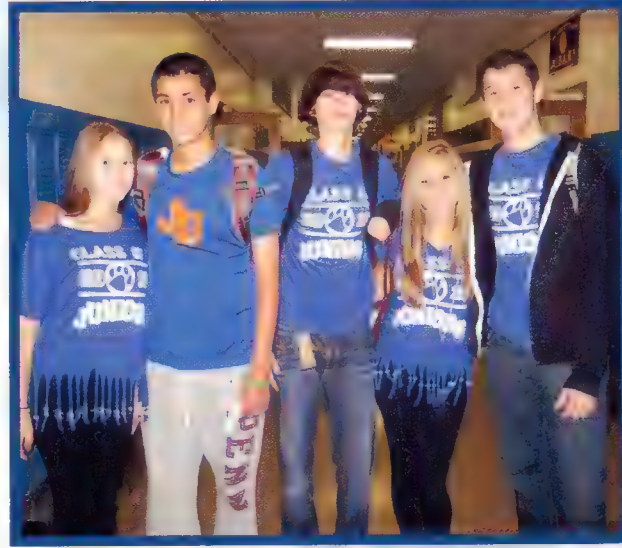

School spirit is an invigorating and entertaining factor at Jonathan Dayton. It gives students and faculty a chance to come together and enjoy their experiences here. From sporting events, to Interclass Games, to pep rallies, almost all look forward to the school spirited event that will take place next!

Express Yourself

Art, Fashion, & Music

By Theresa Stier

Right: Senior Rachel Murray expresses herself not only through music, but through sports as well.

At Jonathan Dayton High School, it's very important for students to express themselves. Whether it is through fashion, art, and or music, everyone has at least once seen inside the "dungeons" walls of the art room or the paintings and ceramics on display outside the IMC. Most people are wowed by the wonderful musical productions or concerts due to the musical talent the Jonathan Dayton High School students' posses. Everyone who attends Dayton has their own sense of style or a way of expressing themselves. None of us are the same. Some are more laid back and some are a little crazier in expressing themselves.

Amanda Hauffe, senior AP art student and one of the Treasurers of Art Club, thinks that it's very important to express herself. "Without expressing myself, I'd just be another person in this school and it's important for others to see diversity."

People vary in their forms of expression. Amanda Braxton, senior, AP art student, violinist, and one of the presidents of art club, started at a very young age. "When I was in kindergarten, I was interested in drawing hearts and stars and a twenty-legged cat. I have no idea why but I did. I also was interested in playing the violin when I was little."

Sara Alonso, senior and member of choir, also started at a young age. "I got into music at an early age. My sisters were apart of the music programs at school so I joined too. I've been in Choir since forever. I've never not been in Choir."

Most people have been inspired by others to express themselves, whether it is their friends, a famous celebrity, or even their teachers. "Mrs. D inspired me because I never thought I was good at art and I found someone that said I had talent," Amanda Hauffe said truthfully.

One thing that these three students agree on is that they wouldn't change anything about how they express themselves. "If I change something I wouldn't be who I am," said Sara.

That's the most important thing: never change who you are because someone else doesn't like you. You're who you are and it's very important to keep expressing yourself, no matter what.

CARS

"I love the freedom of having a car."
- Collin Heleno
(grade 12)

By: Jackie Genovese

With style, and speed, comes great responsibility, such as being able to drive wherever, whenever. Most Dayton students can agree that having a car is the ultimate freedom of being a teenager. People can mostly catch Dayton students cruising around town with their friends, or cruising down to the Jersey Shore blasting their music on the parkway. While senior Erika Seale likes to blast old girly songs with her friends, seniors Brian Reina and Jeff Sommer prefer to roll down their windows and put on Wiz Khalifa as loud as their sound systems will let them.

However, all that style and sound could get drivers in trouble. Just ask seniors who claim that they've been pulled over by a cop.

Every year at Dayton, there is always one student whose car really stands out and grabs every other student's desire and attention. This year, that student is Joe Piga. His stylish, red Camaro speaks for itself since it's one of the "newest and hottest car," states senior Jeff Sommer. With Joe adding a new body kit, rims, and engine to his "whip" he is sure to turn heads in and out of town.

For most students, being able to drive without their parents is a privilege that they would never want taken away. With the big variety of cars in the parking lot, Dayton drivers sure know how to pick the right cars! People can always catch students after school hanging around their cars with their friends. From driving around town, to going down the shore, having a car is a necessity for students to get around.

Joe loves showing off his brand new camaro!

Chris loves to show off his hard work on his rims.

JOBS

By: Emily Stein

Thank you, come again!

Being a high school student can be pretty hectic, especially when having a job. It takes a person with priorities and time management to work while attending high school. "It's pretty exhausting sometimes," says senior, Kerenn Gonzalez, Rite Aid employee, "but the paycheck is worth it." For others, like senior, Dan Torres, work is a splash. As a counselor at the Springfield Pool Camp, he enjoys spending his days throwing kids in the pool and hanging out with his co-counselors. Many employees establish friendships with their co-workers and enjoy spending their long hours with them. "Working with my co-workers makes the day go by faster," states Dan, "We're always having a good time making each other laugh." Not only do these students work to make money, they gain working experience they can carry into the future. "It teaches me people skills, responsibility, and independence," stated Kerenn.

Lunch

By Claire Turcott

It's a Food Frenzy!

Here at Jonathan Dayton High School, lunch is considered the best period around. Many students agree that the extra period to do their homework, and eat a delicious meal provides a great way to relax.

Some food savvy seniors had much to share about their lunch period. Erika Seale thinks fifth period is the best lunch period. Meanwhile, the less humble Jake Olohan said, "Sixth period is the best because I'm in it." However, Erika said that the downside to her lunch are the "obnoxious boys" near her table.

Students have hoped that the cafeteria could order food from restaurants because they do not like cafeteria food. Jake Olohan's favorite person in the cafeteria is "Franky, the janitor, because he's a funny guy." Erika Seale confessed, "I bring bagels to school because cafeteria lunch is disgusting."

It seems here at Jonathon Dayton whether you're a fan of cafeteria food or not, everyone has their own opinions. Be it bagged or bought, lunch is where everything from homework to gossip happens. Despite differences in tastes, lunch brings students together. It is clear that, to Dayton students, lunch is the most important, most fun part of the school day.

TV Studio

Above: The Dayton morning news staff works together to deliver the morning news to the student body.

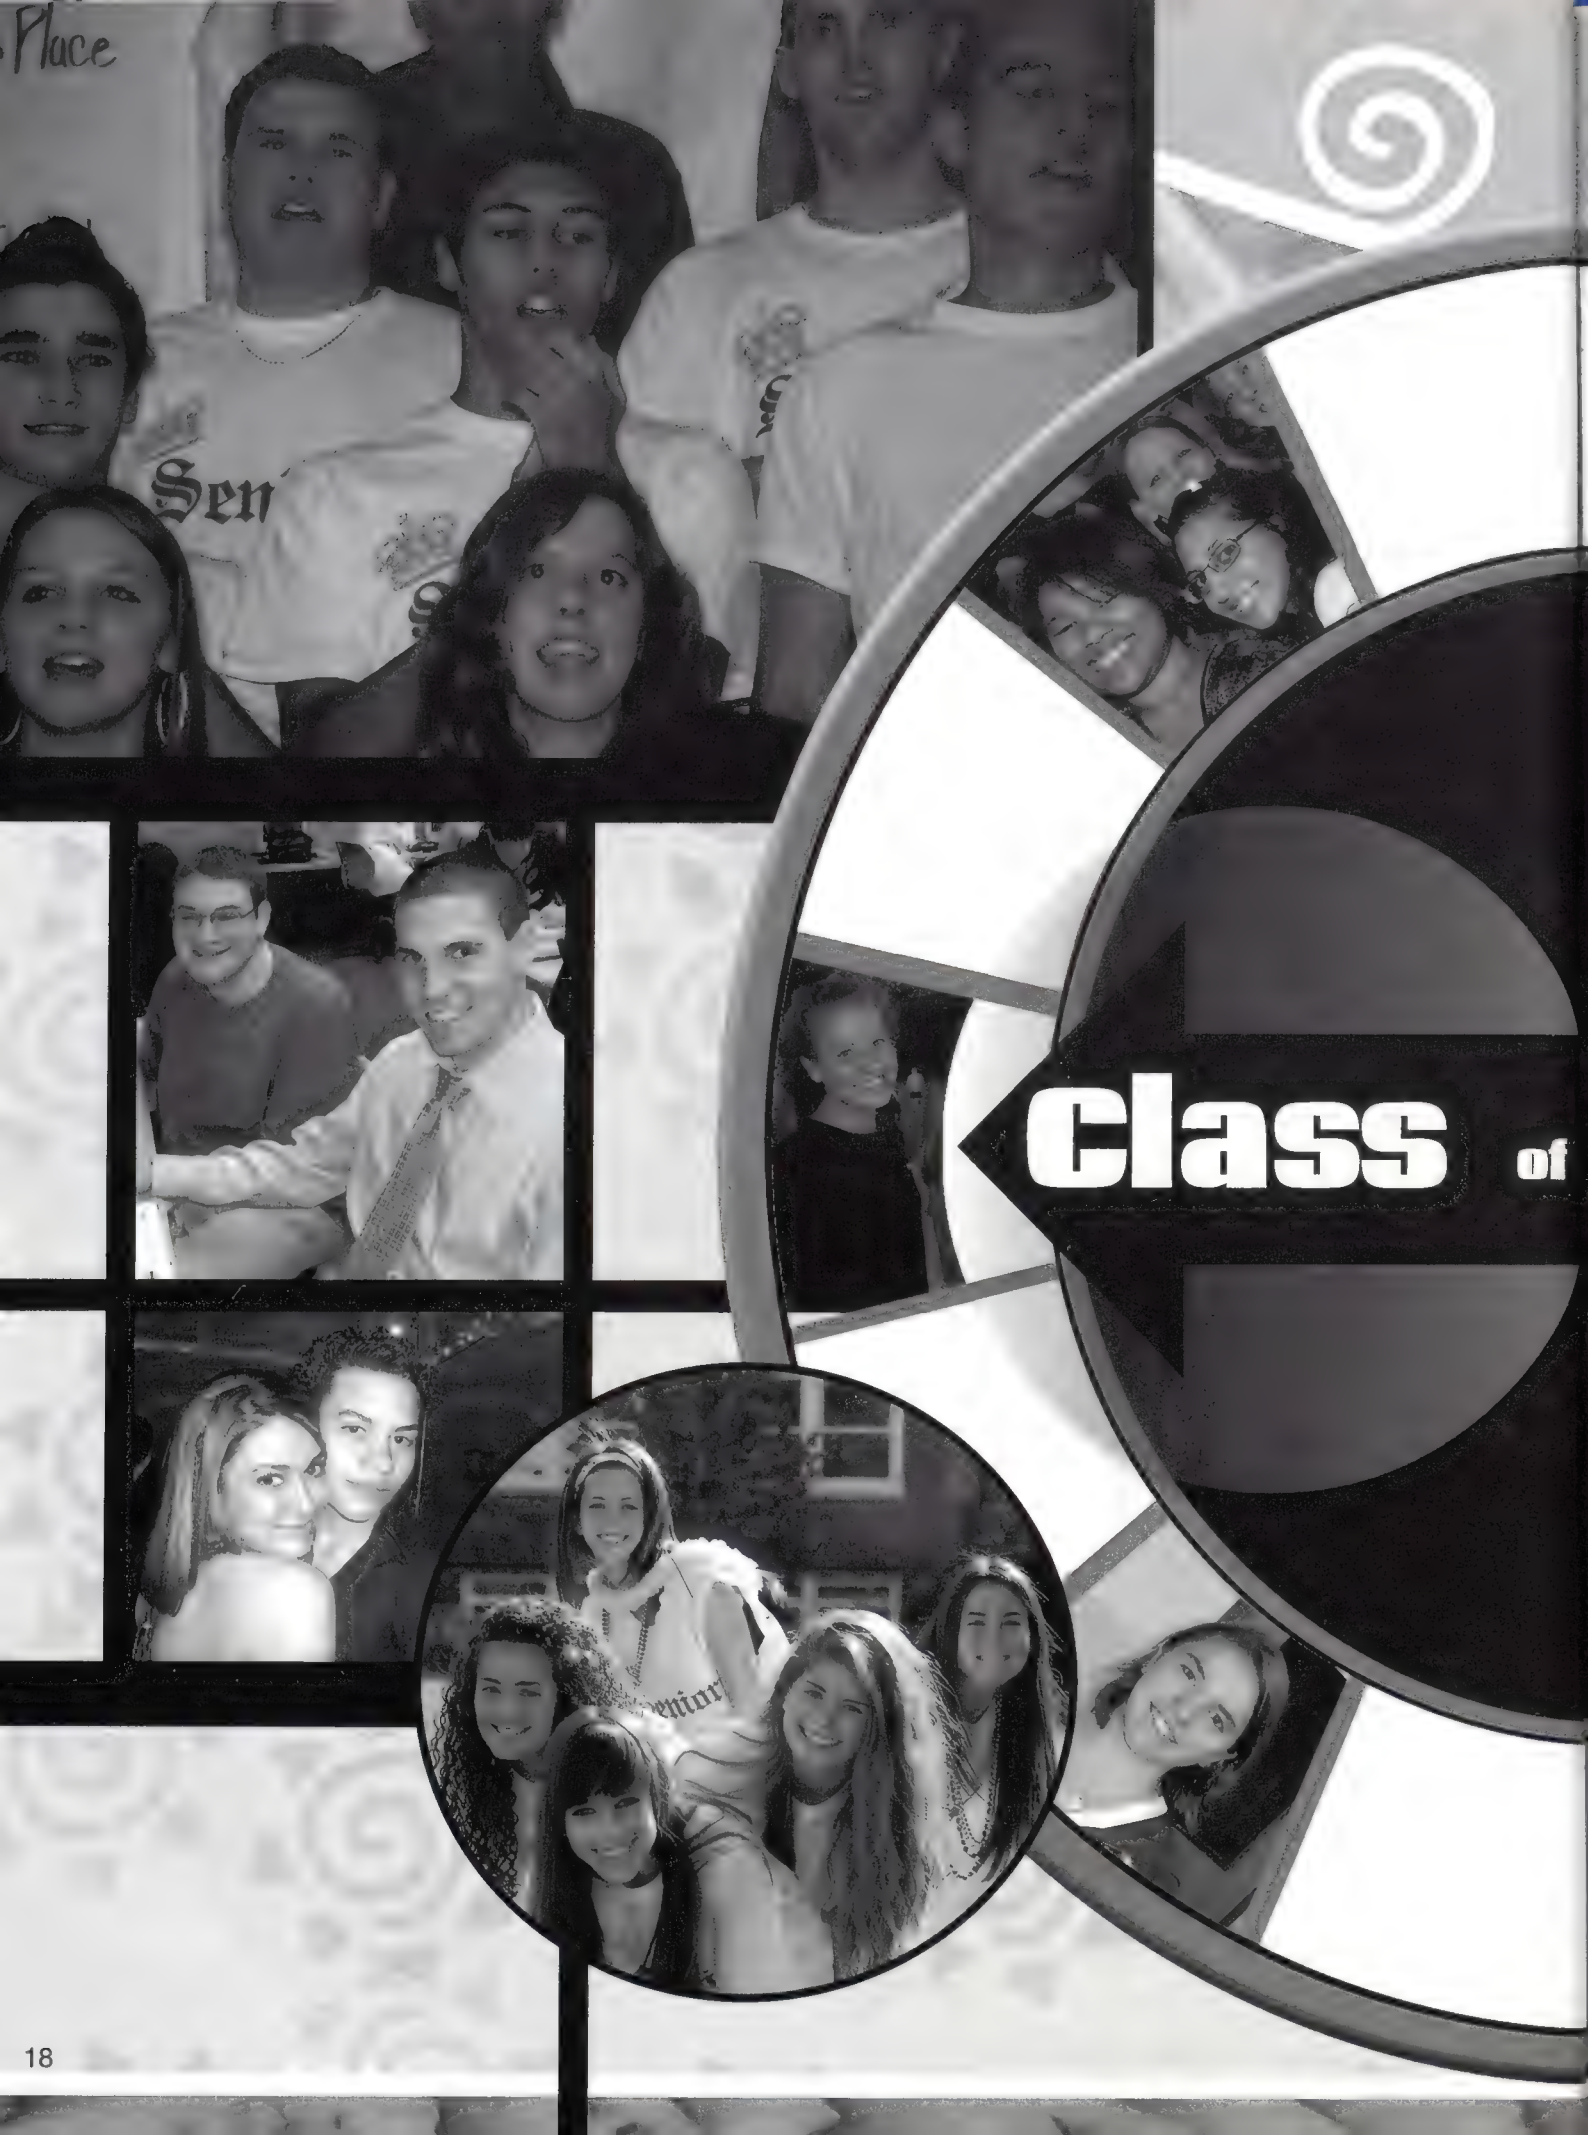

TV production is a fun and interactive class at Dayton. Anyone who signs up for any of the classes whether it be The Morning News, Introduction to TV Studio, or Advanced TV Studio should expect to have fun and learn new skills.

For the Morning News, there are various jobs that go on behind the scenes that no one knows about. The most important role differs from one student to the next. Some feel the "talent" is the most important role of the news; without it there wouldn't be a show. Being Technical Director is probably the hardest because one has to be on top of all of the different camera shots and switch between them throughout the show. Another difficult job is Floor Manager because that person has to communicate everything that the director says while telling the talent if there are any changes in the show and give them their time limits. In the Morning News class they try to show clips of any sports and popular events. Most people in the class enjoy filming the football team most because they can always catch a good play or touchdown.

In the Introduction class, students learn each of the different functions of the pieces of equipment, which aren't too difficult to pick up.

Learning the various roles and how to use the equipment is important for all classes and if eventually one wants to produce the Morning News. But there is one thing that is most important when dealing with the Morning News. Time is a very important aspect of the Morning News because it normally takes the entire period to shoot a segment. "So it is very important for everyone to be on time to class, right Blair," says Mr. Coward when asked about the news.

TV Studio is a student driven class in which each segment students come up with topics and run the entire show. It is a great way to get involved in TV production. When asked why she joined the Morning News Monica Stanislawczyk replied, "To give Dayton something nice to look at in the morning, just kidding, but really so we can start the school's morning right."

Administration

To all of our Jonathan Dayton students, most especially members of the Class of 2011,

Congratulations on another successful year at JDHS.

To the Class of 2011:

You have certainly achieved much in your years with us and now it is time for you to move on to the next part of your life's journey. You have my sincerest wishes for a rich life filled with health, joy and love. The events in our own state and in our world demonstrate the urgent need for our Stand for Civility, an initiative begun this year that I hope will be an integral part of our school community for years to come. At JDHS we cultivate your skills and talents and we urge you to use them to create a world of respect and tolerance. Carry the name of Jonathan Dayton High School proudly as you live your life and know that we are proud to have been participated in your education!

*Sincerely,
Elizabeth Cresci
Principal*

Dear JDHS Students,

It is an honor and a pleasure to serve as your assistant principal. Dayton is a special place due to the commitment of students and staff to make it so. I hope the 2010-2011 school year has been a fulfilling experience for you all.

To the Class of 2011, I wish you the best of luck!

*Sincerely,

NATIONAL HONORS SOCIETY

By Blair Godfrey

To be inducted into National Honors Society one must have a 3.6 unweighted GPA and then apply. The application is then reviewed by a faculty council which judges whether each candidate has demonstrated strong character, scholarship, leadership, and service. The advisor of National Honors Society is Mr. White. The officers are Kevin Kirk (president), Jesse Krumholz (vice president), Stacey Roth (treasurer), and Jacqueline Gallant (historian).

National Art Honors Society

The word "art" means "the expression of human creative skill and imagination" (google.com). Members of the National Art Honors Society have great imaginations and wonderful creativity, whether it's throwing a pot or drawing a masterpiece. Dustin Rotkewicz, senior AP art student, Vice President of Art Club, & voted "Most Artistic", paints and draws his masterpieces, while Carly Sobel, Senior AP art student, and one of the Treasurers of art club, likes to work with clay & sculpt her masterpieces. Although having different focuses they can agree on that without art they wouldn't be here. "If I wasn't told I was good at it I don't think I would be relying on it as a career," Dustin answered.

As far as inspirations are concerned, Dustin is inspired by Salvador Dali, while Carly's is someone everyone in Dayton has come in contact with at least once. "Mrs. D inspired me. Without her I wouldn't be able to create my masterpieces." Be sure to go to "the dungeon" downstairs to see Dayton artists at work.

Key Club

By: Genna Gincel

Right: The dedicated Key Club members.

Key Club is a national service program for high school students. Key Club member Jessica Gonzalez described it as, "A worldwide organization in which members dedicate their time to help others by donating or volunteering." The Key Club went to a children's specialized hospital this year and played with some kids.

A typical meeting consists of discussing future events, signing up for activities, and planning fundraisers. The club raised a lot of money this year that went to some great causes. "The greatest accomplishment of the Key Club this year is the amount of money we made and the increase of participation. The club is definitely more active than it's ever been," Jessica declared.

The Key Club does a lot of great things and makes Dayton proud with their kindness and dedication.

Seniors Charlotte, Giulia, Ashley, Allie, and Paige have been in Key Club since they were freshmen.

ALTERNATIVES CLUB

By: Erika Seale

Alternatives Club is all about making an impact. They are determined to teach everyone to spread the message that drinking and doing drugs are dangerous. Michelle Podberezniak, co-president, claims the main purpose of the club is to "promote alternative ways of having fun besides the use of alcohol and drugs." One of their main goals was to try to convince middle school students that not everyone does it and it does not need to be done. When they are not spreading the word, they spent time bonding through activities such as ice-skating, bowling, attending the overnight stay at Stoney Acres, and many people's favorite, and attending the multi cultural feast. Senior Leah Hirst admitted that this was her favorite because it was a lot of fun and she got to experience all types of new and interesting foods.

Volunteer Club By Remy Schneier

With one hundred- eleven members, and led by advisors Mr. Krumholz and Mrs. Carlson, Volunteer club remains to be one of the biggest and most popular clubs at Jonathan Dayton. From Senior Citizen Breakfasts to visiting Children's Specialized Hospitals, to helping out anyone around town who needs it, the members of Volunteer Club are always benevolent and happy to lend a hand.

At the Senior Citizen Breakfasts most underclassmen bake and the upper classmen serve. Since it is such a big club, the people that help out at the breakfasts alternate. Not only do the people working serve the seniors, but they talk with them, laugh with them, and in the end give them prizes through a free raffle. President of Volunteer Club, Rebecca Frank explained, "My best experiences with the Volunteer Club are at the Senior Citizen breakfasts because I love when they tell us they're going to come to the next one and are so happy they could be there with us because seeing us makes their whole week. They have so much fun and we are all just happy to be a part of something that is making them smile."

Volunteering is extremely important and more people should get involved because it is an overall good feeling and an important thing in today's society.

Mrs. Carlson said, "When people volunteer they get a better idea of what the world is really like. It's good to have compassion for other people and when you volunteer you get to see the people that you are helping which makes you realize the significance of your actions."

Model UN

By Claire Turcott

In Model U.N., under the direction of advisor Mr. Russo, students take the place of the world's ambassadors in the United Nations, then act out parliamentary procedure as though they were in the real U.N. Topics such as piracy, the Ottoman Empire, and even women's rights are discussed with the fervor of young people who wish to make the world a better place.

At the last Model U.N. conference in Baltimore, senior Zak Glennon and sophomore Chris Scalzo won Honorable Mentions for their actions during the conferences. When seeing the awesome group of students who participate in Model U.N. it is clear that these kids are going to go far and maybe join the real United Nations some day.

ENVIRONMENTAL CLUB

By Kirsten Vogt

Going strong since 2007, Environmental Club has been an amazing success. Most of you may recognize the big blue recycling bins in all of your classes. You can thank the Environmental Club for the wonderful addition to the classroom. "I'm kinda a "go green" person, so it seemed like the perfect club for me!" says President Jessica Gonzales.

But whether you are a "green" person or just interested in making a difference, the club welcomes you. Advisor Mr. Davison does his best with the help of students to persuade the Board of Education to make our school more environmentally friendly. Members are also continuing to learn about new ways of making their personal lives greener. "One of the coolest things I learned so far was about solar panels. I'd love to have some at my own house," says Jessica.

These students are setting a great example for future students to make our school a better place.

QUIZ BOWL

By Emily Stein

In Quiz Bowl, students gather once a week to study trivia questions to prepare for their meets and the highly anticipated Brain Bowl. The team is led by Captain Sean Berkowitz, a dedicated four-year member, who is viewed as the most competitive person on the team because of his "huge brain". When asked how we prepared for meets, Berkowitz joked saying, "We make sure to lift in the weight room before every competition." But the true success of the team comes from the preparation conducted by Dr. Trueger, the club advisor. "Dr. Trueger is a great advisor. She is very dedicated and we will miss her very much," stated Co-Captain Kevin Kirk. The members of the club agree Quiz Bowl is an exceptional club. They enjoy utilizing their love of trivia in an enjoyable way.

Hola! If going on fun trips, enjoying great food, and learning about a new culture is something you want to do in high school, then Spanish Club is for you! Advisers Mrs. Diez and Mrs. Beller do their best to show students the wonderful things about the Hispanic culture.

SPANISH CLUB

By Kirsten Vogt

"I joined Spanish Club because I love the Spanish language and culture," says Vice President Charlotte Slattery. Trips included going to see Spanish dance shows, which taught students some new moves, and exploring new restaurants with food students have never tried before. Officers, Kevin Lakaritz (President), Charlotte Slattery (Vice President), and Eyton Boclin (Treasurer/Secretary) plan meetings and events to make Spanish Club as fun as possible!

Will members continue to enjoy the culture after high school? ...As Charlotte would say "Claro que se!" meaning "Of course!"

Mejores Amigas

Le Club Français

By Kendall Bohannon

Parlez-vous français? The French Club at Dayton is open to all students eager to learn and enjoy the French culture. With multiple trips throughout the year, members of the club get to experience French life first hand. "We just had a senior trip to the Alliance Française where we saw a play. On December 1st we attended 'Les Misérables' at the Paper Mill Playhouse, and took a trip to have lunch at Café Monet in Millburn," Madame Caulfield, the French Club Advisor stated.

Kenny Pereira, a senior and Vice President of the French Club, shared about the experiences of the trips the club goes on throughout the year. "We learn about what they eat, what they wear, and how school and life is different in France compared to the U.S."

Along with trips, the club hosts many types of fundraisers, like the selling of chocolate roses, and a new one in the making this year, a FIFA tournament. These exciting activities the club host help bring in more and more thrilled members every year.

The French culture is really brought to life through this club and all the students that make it possible. With hard work from the executive board and Madame Caulfield, the love for French culture and the French Club at Dayton will never disappear!

Italian Club

By Jackie Genovese

The Italian Club, created by Mr. Fabiano, has been very popular for students who are interested in Italian, or for students who take Italian in school. Senior Charlotte Slattery claims that the only reason she joined the club was because she "wanted to see Mr. Fabiano more."

The Italian club takes an annual trip every year to the Mozzarella Factory where they try different Italian foods. In the springtime, the club makes a basket with all things Italian, brought in by the club members, that they auction off to one lucky winner. The three members who sell the most tickets, get a special prize from Mr. Fabiano.

Besides the trips and fun activities, "The language is fun and there's always lots of laughs," says senior Lauren Kerr. The Italian club is always welcoming new members with open arms, so come out and join a really fun club! Ciao!

Chess Club

By Emily Stein

Checkmate! This word is often heard when walking passed Mr. Russo's classroom every Thursday morning. In chess club, students get to play their favorite game against their fellow peers, while picking up strategies along the way. They learn how the other members play and form matches based on who's evenly matched.

"I enjoy playing Jacques the most because he tries to distract me by 'smack talking' the whole time," states senior chess club president, Tom Venezia, "but it doesn't work!"

For others like Kevin Lakritz, who is known for his expertise in the Scandinavian Defense, it's about improving his skills. "The game is all skill and no luck," said advisor Mr. Russo, who's been an avid chess player since he was 10 years old.

Junior Statesmen of America

By: Remy Schneier

JSA or Junior Statesmen of America is not only a club that debates significant topics, but members also travel to different cities for the conferences, they go out to fun dinners, and they attend a dance for all of the participants from all the schools involved. Mrs. Cokeing, advisor, loves the JSA trips because they are fun for everyone who goes. She remarked, "I like the trips and the chapter traditions like the dinners and activities like ice-skating. Every trip home from a conference we have a competition on the best "JSA-er" of the trip where students tally points on a variety of topics to win prizes." Sean Berkowitz was the most recent winner of this award.

Sean Berkowitz,
President, and Jesse

Krumholz, Vice President, both have attended almost every trip leading the team and setting a very good example. JSA is a national organization that started with a group of students in 1934, which were interested in politics, government, social issues, world affairs, and the law. These students wanted a place to discuss and debate the different topics. At the conferences, these issues are presented and selected members of the club debate and get up in front of a group of students to discuss the certain assigned topics.

This club is very interesting, eventful, and full of memories if you ask anyone who has previously been a part of at least one conference. Joining will give any student interested in pursuing a career in politics a strong understanding of how debates and conferences work.

Amnesty Club

By: Erika Seale

Amnesty Club is all about giving back. This club's main focus is on human rights, violations of those rights, and raising money for natural disasters. Senior Jackie Gallant, member for four years and now President, was very excited about her role. "It's really nice to be in charge and have the power to make a change. I can actually get things done." She aspires that everyone joins the club for a chance to make a real difference.

The Amnesty Club has participated in many charities. This year, they sold t-shirts to raise money, sponsored an orphan impacted by a tsunami, and joined Sole 4 Soul, an organization that collects shoes to give to people in need. Many of the members agree that being in this club has been a very positive experience. They like being a part of the global community.

MOCK TRIAL

By: Jessica Gonzalez

Mock Trial is the perfect club to join for Jonathan Dayton's future attorneys. The club is an exciting fun way for members to learn more about law and the criminal justice field by taking part in role played trials. Mock Trial members emulate real trials through pre-written scripts or student-written ones. "Mock Trial allows us to learn about the criminal justice field in a creative fun way," says Vesna Stoicovici.

The club also allows students to have the opportunity to perform in a life-like trials to make sure this is what they want to pursue," says senior Jacqueline Gallant.

Even for students who are unsure about this particular field, Mock Trial is a fun club that allows students to debate, discuss, and solve problems.

Medical Careers Club

By: Jessica Gonzalez

The Medical Careers Club is a growing club at Jonathan Dayton whose members dedicate their time to volunteering at hospitals, donating magazines, and learning more about the medical and allied health field. They meet about once a month and discuss upcoming events, fundraisers, trips, and more. This year, the club was able to attend a trip where they would watch doctors perform brain surgery on a patient.

The club has also gone to Overlook Hospital where they donated and placed magazines in the waiting room. The club has also started to brainstorm ideas in order to raise money for medical awareness and research. "Our goal for this year is to raise more money to donate to medical research," says senior Senem Donuk.

Being in the Medical Careers Club allows students the opportunity to learn more about the medical field if they are looking to pursue a medical career. However, the club also allows students to dedicate their time in just helping others. "I'm not in the club for medical purposes, I just wanted to help out to donate to medical research, it's a rewarding feeling," says senior Theresa Stier. The Medical Careers Club is a great club to join if you are looking to dedicate your time to helping others.

Math League

By Kendall Bohannon

Is math one of your favorite subjects? Are you a great problem-solver? Do you like to challenge yourself? If so, Math League would be the perfect club for you to be a part of.

More and more students have been joining Math League to challenge themselves and get a perfect score. The tests are scored 1-6, 6 being a perfect score. Many students don't prepare for the tests; they use their own math knowledge. Senior Kevin Kirk does though, stating, "I take a practice test with 'ma gurl' Ms. Powers."

Assessments are given once a month in the IMC. If you agree with Kevin Kirk who proudly claims, "I LOVE MATH!" and Paul Flores who likes to, "better understand the interesting subject of math and challenge myself," then the IMC once a month is where you should be to join the enthusiastic club of Math League!

SCIENCE LEAGUE

By Claire Turcott/Mrs. Chomko

In Science League, Dayton's best and brightest strive to win competitions based on all they've learned about science. February's competition yielded successful results with the Biology 2 team outscoring Cranford and Arthur L. Johnson's teams, with junior Elizabeth Karan placing first and junior Brett Biebelberg placing second. Although absent from February's competition, senior Jacqueline Gallant was the top scorer on January's test.

Prepped by Mr. Gula and Mr. Fugere Sabrina Bibbo, Ethan Crasto. Nilu Nixon, Jeremy Glennon, Frankie San George, Alex Golden, Dawn Wilkenfeld, Ben Chabanon, Ben Castor, Matt Neubauer, Emily Locke, and Jackie Loeshelle are the other members of the Science League.

PEER LEADERS

By Jackie Genovese

A peer leader is a person who serves as a good role model to people who need guidance. With meetings a few times a month, with advisors Mrs. Hofman and Mr. Hadzimichalis, senior Charlotte Slattery states, "It is easy to think of ideas to engage the freshmen in the upcoming months with feeling comfortable in our school."

Peer Leaders organize events in which they participate in such as: Freshmen Fun Night, Freshmen Orientation, and Back to School Night. Although some seniors admit they only joined for the perks of missing classes, other seniors, such as Michelle Podberezniak, claim that being a Peer Leader has made her "more aware of her surroundings and how she can be more open to help the people who need her guidance."

"It is a great feeling making others feel welcomed and making them smile!" says Charlotte. Peer Leaders are always excited for new members, so if you like to help others, this is the perfect club for you!

Jargon

Dayton's Literary Magazine

By Genna Gincel

The Literary Magazine at Dayton is a great outlet for students to express themselves in a creative and healthy way. Students can submit almost any form of writing or art, such as poems, short stories, drawings, or lyrics for publication in the magazine that is distributed at the end of the school year. Editor in chief Chris Scalzo says, "We collect submissions and at the end of the year the executive members choose what to put in. Then they send it to the printing company."

The submissions can be on any topic. Many of the students who submit work, brainstorm by looking at creative writing prompts or thinking of holidays, fond memories, and stressful high school experiences. Chris Scalzo says his favorite part of being a part of Jargon is, "seeing how the magazine comes from nothing to a whole production."

Pep Band plays "the music that people hear at football games." The Pep Band is filled with peppy, proud, band members who love to cheer on the football team. Ashley Polukord, a senior in Pep Band who says, "Pep Band is awesome because we have so many different types of people together having fun." She told us that freshmen should look forward to Mr. Slate teaching them how to march and turn. Pep Band is a great way to make friends for the musically inclined. There is never a boring moment because, according to Polukord, "We have pride and we have pep and we are not afraid to show it."

STRINGS

By Theresa Stier

One of the most underrated programs in Jonathan Dayton is the strings program. The students in strings are very talented and work very hard in order to perform at their best during concerts. Some of the students in strings have been playing the violin, the cello, or the base for nine years! Amanda Braxton, senior and violinist, says that what she loves the most about being in violin is, "The expressive movements the violin when we get really into a song." Kristin Applegate, senior and cellist, also agrees that the music that they play is the best thing about being in the strings program.

The members of the string program also help out the senior breakfast and they join the Medical Careers club to play music for the elderly at the nursing home. The string students do get rewarded thought at the end of the year by performing at Six Flags along with the others in the music department. Amanda's favorite experience is going on those trips. "Six flags because it's six flags, more flags more fun!" The members in strings seem to get a long nicely with each other and enjoy playing music together. That's what makes the string program great: teamwork and enjoyment. Without those two qualities, we wouldn't be able to experience the talent they possess.

CHORALE

By Taylor McQueen

The JDHS Chorale, composed of 36 students and directed by Miss Ashley Madison, have been singing as long as they can remember.

My favorite part of choir are the days when we just bang out random songs on the piano," Alex Golden states. "I like working together with others to produce beautiful sounds," freshmen Nicole Shehady and Michael Wang continue.

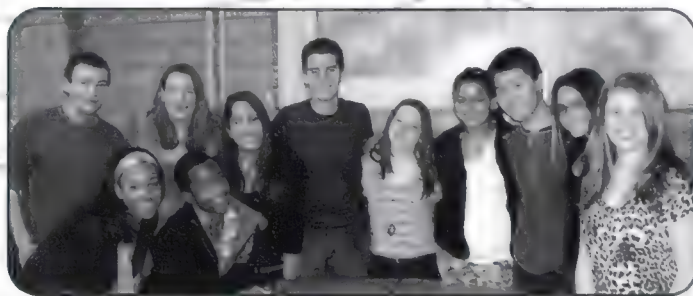

On January 19, 2011 the choir had their annual winter concert in which the talented group sang a variety of songs including "No Air", rearranged by the Glee Cast, "Lux Aeterna" by Michelle Boueche, and Queen and David Bowie's "Under Pressure", where they mimicked instruments to create an acapella background.

Being a part of choir is an experience Dayton students will take with them for life.

GLEE!

By Taylor McQueen

Inspired by Glee, the hit television show, Vocalicious (The Glee Club) is about expressing oneself through music. "Vocalicious is about taking a common interest in music to a new level beyond just singing," Michael Sandford claims. It's about "helping one another to contribute to the success of the group," Michael Wang continued.

This student run club has chosen a wild variety of songs including "Seasons of Love" (Rent Cast) and "Shark in the Water" (VV Brown). The twelve talented, note worthy students include: Taylor McQueen, Alex Golden, Catie Hodic, Maia Soicovici, Julianna Pica, Teresa Arpino, Giandra Morales, Ally Henao, Johnny Ferreira, Michael Wang, Shalaan Pressley, and Michael Sandford.

CONCERT BAND

Where can you find some of the most talented students at Dayton? Well, simply pop into Mr. Slate's band room to hear the melodic sounds of the JDHS Concert Band. Although small in number, the unique sounds that emerge from their instruments are beyond compare. Not only do these talented individuals rehearse weekly for both the winter and spring concerts, they rehearse intensely in order to compete in various musical competitions such as Teen Arts and a Six Flags Music Fest Competition. They also manage to come together to serenade graduating seniors at graduation in addition to providing a musical backdrop for the Volunteers Club's Senior Citizen Breakfasts (where the photo to the left was taken).

DAWG PRINT By Genna Gincel

The school newspaper, "The Dawg Print", only comes out a few times a year. Most of the articles are written about current events, issues of importance, and topics that interest Dayton students. The process of putting out an edition starts with writing the articles, compiling and editing the articles, formatting and editing the articles on the computer, and finally printing and distributing copies.

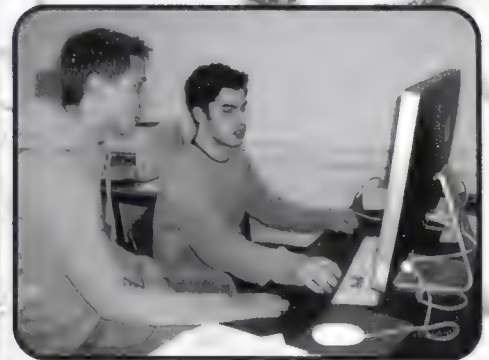

Run by advisor Ms. Rooney-Kuhn, the editors and staff writers meet regularly to plan the next edition and come up with ideas for potential articles. Seniors Sean Berkowitz and Dan Hockstein share the role of editor-in-chief. Sean explained what their job entails, "We write, edit, manage, and produce the Dawg Print."

Anyone can write for the paper if he/she has an idea and goes to a meeting. News editor Jackie Gallant explains, "I write news articles, try and find other people to write news articles, and then edit the articles."

The Dawg Print keeps the Dayton community informed and entertained throughout the year.

YEARBOOK By Claire Turcott

Yearbook Club, whose head quarters are located in Mrs. Chomko's room, has been booming with activity all year long. The club consisting of 13 girls, which is also a full year elective, goes above and beyond the requirements of the class to make sure this year's Jonathan Dayton yearbook is truly amazing. From picture taking, to article writing, and page designing, the jobs of the yearbook staff seem endless. Senior Kirsten Vogt says that because she enjoyed looking at the yearbook, she knew she would enjoy designing it. However, the job was tougher than it seemed. The yearbook class had their work cut out for them, only having 13 staff members. But, thanks to them, the book is a successful collection of Dayton memories.

After an amazing 8-2 season last year, and being named conference champions, the Bulldogs were working harder than ever to continue the winning legacy at Dayton. Starting in early January and continuing through the summer months into preseason, the players of the Jonathan Dayton football team were constantly working on getting bigger and better. The early morning workouts are a big factor in the preparation of the boys for the season.

"[The morning workouts] are truly the difference maker in our program. The kids are getting physically stronger, but when they're brought in at six in the morning all summer and year long, it begins to develop their mental toughness as well," Coach Goerge explained.

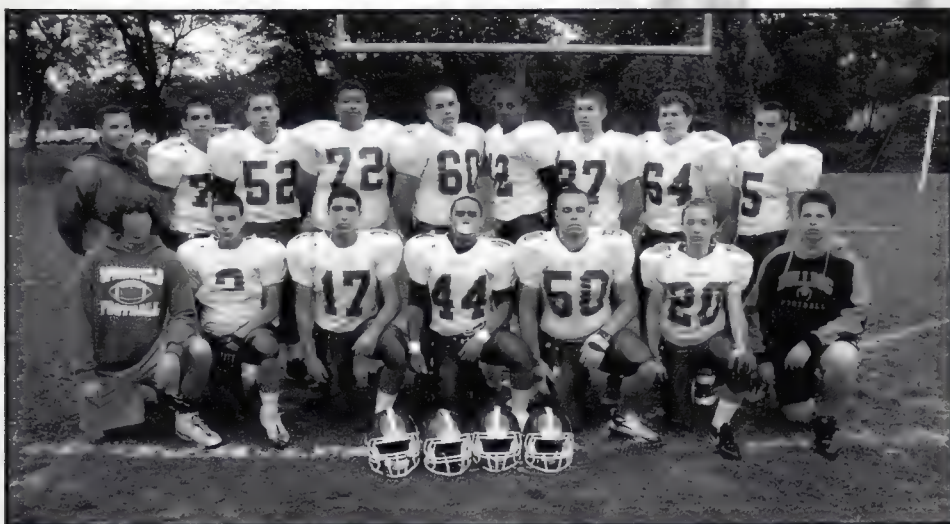

With the support from the families of players and almost the entire Dayton student body, the boys become even more pumped and ready to crush their opponents at every game.

"I've been here when the support was low, but now you look in the stands and it feels great to see all the people there. You're obligated to work hard and not let anyone down," senior wide receiver Aaron Williams said regarding school support.

Aaron is among the twelve powerhouse seniors that bring dominance to the team. Leadership is an aspect each one of these seniors has, and according to Coach Goerge, the leadership skills become stronger and stronger every week.

With such a hard working team, it proves that Dayton football will stay strong for years to come. And without a doubt, this 2010 season is set to be a good one, following in the footsteps of the 2009 season. The coaches and younger players are sure of one thing, and it's that the senior players will be dearly missed next season as they move on to bigger and better things with the help from all four years of being a proud, tough, and strong Dayton Bulldog.

“The Cheerios”

By Taylor McQueen - Glee

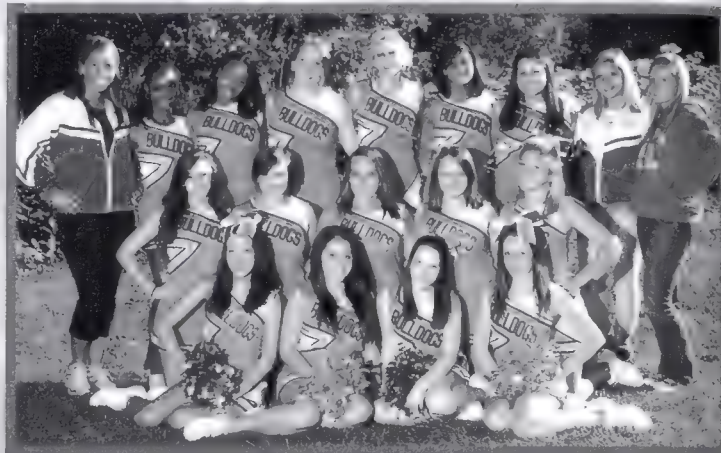

“It’s our job to get the boys pumped, keep the crowd cheering,” explained senior Alexis Mongiello when discussing at the football games. As a fellow cheerleader, I’ve told the boys, “We’re your number one fans. If you play with passion, power, and purpose, the other team won’t know what hit them at the end of those 48 minutes,” says Taylor McQueen.

Every Saturday or Friday the girls gather rain or shine, to cheer on their favorite boys. But the flips and dances these girls do take time, they practice two hours everyday. “Practice is intense. We go over the cheers and dance time and time again,” Charlotte Slattery and Tal Torovezsky agreed.

Joelle Menza and Meaghan Finnegan claim, “We all have to support each other as a team and, at the same time, support our boys.” Jennifer Quagliato and Paige Gleason unanimously agree that Belvidere was the best game. “So many fans came out to support the team, despite how far away it was. That’s real dedication! Though it was negative 20 degrees on the bus, and everyone was huddled up in their seats trying to sleep, the bus ride equaled slumber a party.”

Though excited to be the leaders of the team, and the first class that their coaches grew up with, the seniors are sad to leave, “Being a senior is bittersweet. I love being able to talk about the memories of past season, with the girls. Cheerleading was a huge part of my time at Dayton. The football banquet is going to be the worst part because it is like the official goodbye,” Paige and Charlotte agreed. “I’m so happy to know that we’ll be leaving the squad in good hands. Also our boys had an awesome season and I’m so proud of them. Once a bulldog, always a bulldog,” Jennifer concluded.

BOYS

As the Varsity Boys Soccer team began this season with their first State Championship Title under their belt, they knew what was expected of them this year. Playing just as they were anticipated to, the boys started this season off strong, undefeated for the first half of the season, putting them in first place in the conference. Captains Kenny Periera, Brian Reina, Andrey Zuniga, and Peter Bianco lead the team and have very high expectations for them. Kenny Periera said, 'My goal and the team's goal is to have a good record so we can be ranked as one of the top teams in counties and states. We are also dedicated to working hard to reclaim the State Championship Title we won last year and prove that we are a better team than many people think.'

Coach Fabiano is also a major asset to the season, helping the players to get in tip top shape in order to be faster than any other team out there. The boys have an abundance of talented players all working together because of their strong friendships and love for soccer. Captain Brian Reina explained, 'Since we won States last year, we have really good chemistry, on the field and off the field. We are a family and that has helped us to be so successful last season and what will also help us this season.' More than fifty percent of the starting line-up consists of seniors that have a lot of experience and control over the soccer field. Things are looking up for this team and another State Championship Title is not far out of reach. Hard work and dedication will lead the way for these athletes and it will be exciting to see how everything will happen this year.

Girls Soccer

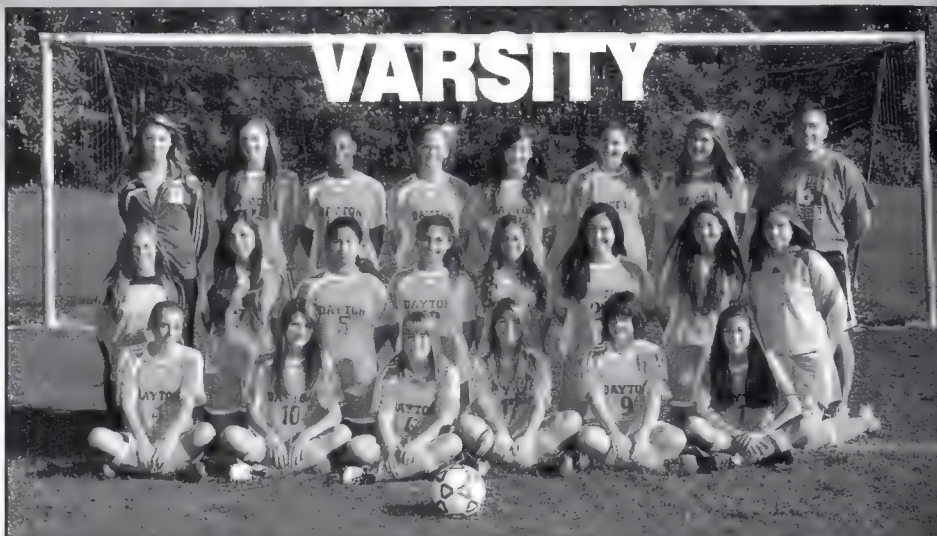

By: Blair Godfrey

The girl's soccer team is a fall sport even though it truly starts in the summer. "The preseason workouts consist of running, running, and more running," senior Emily Stein expressed with a sigh. Coach Lynch has to whip the girls back into shape so they are in their best shape during the season.

When the season started the girls were undefeated for their first five games. But, soon after despite several girls becoming injured, they still played strong. At the end of their season, the team had nine wins, two ties, and eight tough losses. The girls made it to the first round of states against David Brearley, their biggest rival, "Every girl on the team played their hearts out, and really pushed herself," said senior Remy Schneier.

The captains this year were both seniors Emily Stein and Gabby Pypiak. Fellow teammates said they were extremely dedicated to the team and set a good example for all of the girls. The team has an incredible dynamic on and off the field because of the amazing friendships that they have formed. Overall, the team had an astounding season and had a lot of fun playing together.

Team dinners, group singing on the court, and the desire to be in great shape is what ties the Jonathan Dayton Girls Tennis team together!

Stacey Roth

This years' Girls Tennis team, consisting of 18 wonderful athletes, won 11 out of 16 matches! Varsity team included seniors Carly Sobel, Sara Berkowitz, and Stacey Roth and juniors Leah Cunningham, Jen Kuczynski, Kelli Murray, Allison Knapp and Alex Golden. Junior Varsity team included Emma McGrath, Ana Visotto, Catherine Coleman, Mahnoor Mizra, Jessica Sirotkin, Jessica Videna, Margit Landa, Brianna Barriesia, Rita Basik, and Alyanah Espanosa. They all work hard to improve their techniques on the court. But what they don't have to work hard at is having the best team unity! When it comes down to it their 11-5 record shows that their hard work resulted in a great season!

CROSS COUNTRY

By: Ali Gutkin

Last year, the Jonathan Dayton Cross Country Team placed third in their conference and fifth in sectionals. Hoping for just that, and more, the team worked extremely hard during their practices this year. Unfortunately, the team wasn't able to reach their goal by placing this year, but it didn't stop them from having an amazing season.

For Dayton's Cross Country Team it is more than just winning meets, it's about working together and forming bonds with the other runners. When asked about her teammates, Senior Ale Cicchino explains, "One time, Darren slipped and sprained his ankle, so Dan [Torres] picked him up and carried him to the finish line while still running. We're a family." The words family and tradition are the two most important and frequent words used when discussing this team, even with the coaches. "Before sectionals," Ale clarified, "Coach Campbell gave us a really inspirational speech, as well as endless bagels and Yoo-hoos. One of many ongoing traditions."

With an extremely large senior count this year, the team was focused on enjoying their last year together, and making it the best that it could be. Another reason why students of Jonathan Dayton love participating in Cross Country? Support. Matt Neubauer stated that, "Supporting each other during practices is a huge deal, and during our meets we run in packs." Overall the Jonathan Dayton Cross Country Team is an unstoppable force because of their amazing sportsmanship and close-knit family.

"Corey and I have been convinced, since 2007, that our pre-race handshake ritual is what pushes us towards the finish line." -Ale Cicchino

The Girls Volleyball team has worked its hardest to have a great season. Seniors Katie Ghilino, Michelle Podberezniak, Kathleen Arias, Jessica Ruzol, and Leah Hirst played their best for their last season at Jonathon Dayton. The seniors' determination encouraged the greatest effort from the other girls on the varsity team, including Kristin Hankerson, Danielle DiFiore, Lais Ghiraldeli, Julianna Ginefra, and Angie Rojas.

At practices, the girls would split up into teams of six and play each other. The winning team would then delegate a "punishment". These are memories all players will hold close to their hearts. Another great memory of the season is "Lia Goldberg's facial expressions," says senior Kathleen Arias. Teammates Michelle and Leah agree, restating that Lia's funny facial expressions while playing were their most memorable moments of the season.

When recalling the most memorable game of the season, Danielle DiFiore states it had to have been "one of the away games we had to play up to 34 points! There was so much tension, but it was definitely the longest and best game we played."

Overall, the team seems to truly love volleyball and the things it has taught them about teamwork. They hope to carry on this love of the sport throughout their lives.

This was a very successful year for the Dayton-Brearley gymnastics team. The team consisted of seniors Erika Seale and Kirsten Vogt from Dayton, Dana Gallant, sophomore Melissa Klemens and freshmen Ilana Roth and Rachel Stone all from one of the magnet schools. Their win against the Elizabeth team with a score of 33.69 (Elizabeth) to 54.82 (Dayton), was a really great time for the team. Senior Kirsten Vogt said that this was "the most memorable moment since joining the team." Even though they did not come out with a winning record, all the girls will agree that this is a very close-knit team. They all said that the team has become more like a family. They all have different strengths and likes when it comes to the sport, but they all come together in the end. With the season coming to an end, the girls were asked to give advice to aspiring gymnasts. Freshmen Ilana Roth said, "Don't give up on anything, then you will never learn."

SWIMMING

By Theresa Stier

The swim team is one of the teams that call them self a "family," according to Elizabeth Karan, junior swimmer. The swim team is the one team that has to travel the farthest to get to their home trough. You have to be a committed swimmer to leave the school at 3 pm and get home around 7 or 8 pm. This also causes a lot of people to not go to their swim team meets and cheer on the team. The sport is "fun and enjoyable," Sara Alonso, senior swimmer, stated. The team has great sportsmanship and everyone gets along with one another. Nothing but happiness could come from a great team and an enjoyable sport.

BOYS BASKETBALL

By Emily Stein

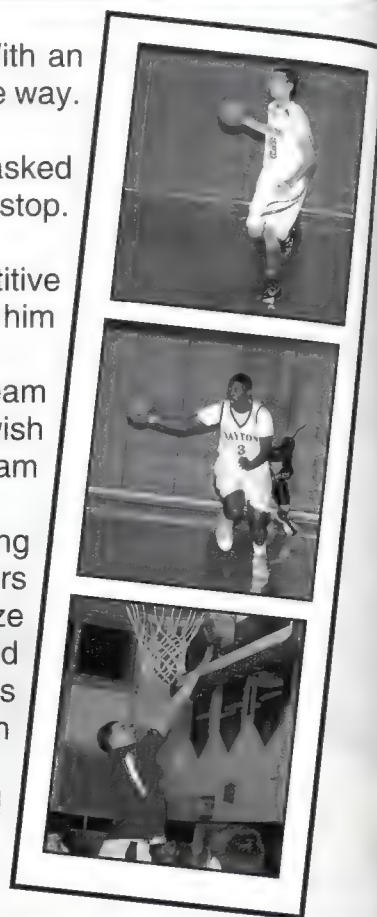

The 2010 -11 boys varsity basketball team starts the season off strong. With an impressive record 11-2, the bulldogs are confident in their ability to make it all the way. The team is lead by the hard working, and exceptionally talented seniors. Point guard, Justin Grant's talent and love for the game speaks for itself. When asked his favorite aspect of the sport, he responds, "I love the fact that basketball is nonstop. You're constantly running, thinking, and reacting."

Along with Justin, leading scorer, Aaron Williams is in his prime. "I'm a competitive person so I just like the competition," states Aaron. His attitude is what makes him so successful in basketball and football.

Center, Kareem Jackson's strength under the basket significantly helps the team with rebounds and fouls. Shooting guards, Ronald Herman and Kevin Kirk swish shots from all over. The team can rely on them to hit those outside shots. The team is also confident in the exceptional players coming off the bench.

The success of the bulldogs comes from their teamwork. "We've been playing together for all four years," says Aaron Williams, "so we learned each others strengths and weaknesses. Now that it's our senior year, we can really capitalize on it." The team becomes a family in the winter, spending hours together on and off the court. "I'm definitely going to miss my teammates once I graduate," states Justin Grant, "We've been playing together for so long and we've been through a lot together."

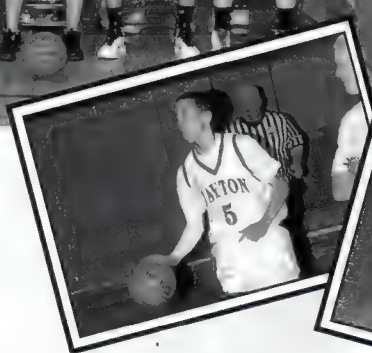

With preparation from head coach, Coach Martin, support from their dedicated fans, and motivation from each other, the boys varsity basketball team is confident in attaining more wins and success in the near future.

The Girls Basketball team is a very close group of girls that consists of only freshmen, sophomores, and juniors. This young team shows strong determination and devotion to the sport led by juniors Emily MacDonnell, Anna Lies, and Jen Kuczynski. Emily MacDonnell commented on the structure of the team saying, "It's not so bad not having any seniors because we can get the job done with who we have. We're a young team, but we manage."

Despite the small team, Coach Rennie has a lot of experience with the game and a lot faith in the girls, always pushing them to improve. So far the team has done a phenomenal job of winning close games and progressing week by week. Their goals for this year are to win the conference and to get as far as they can into both the county and state tournaments. They are the team to watch next year, as all of the girls become accustomed to each other and grow together as a team.

ICE HOCKEY

By Ali Gutkin

Ice hockey is one of the most anticipated sports of the winter. Although the Jonathan Dayton ice hockey team does not have the best record, students and faculty look forward to the intensity on the ice and spirit throughout the rink. Regardless of the turn out, the team puts one hundred percent effort, and they work extra hard during each practice. Captain Mark Vax, who has been playing for eight years, says, "The hardest part about playing ice hockey is the amount of physical contact."

In order to overcome such obstacles, Coach Trimble always keeps the team on their feet by constantly thinking of new drills and ways to improve each player's skills. In addition, thinking about past success helps motivate this team. Captain Jake Kozlenko says, "We rallied back from Scotch Plains last year, and thinking about that really pushes me because I want to get back to that point."

So far the 2010-2011 ice hockey season has been an intriguing one. Their record may be 3-12, but the Jonathan Dayton Bulldawgs definitely hold their own, and make each game just as exciting. They have played teams such as the Millburn Millers, the Westfield Blue Devils, and the GL Highlanders. With hard work and dedication, the team's not ready to give up just yet. The season is definitely not over, and neither is the support, spirit, and the exhilarating games!

Winter Track

The winter track season spans from the end of November until the middle of February, and with the help of coaches Miss Zika and Mr. Cozza, the team performed well with several runners placing in multiple meets.

Track practice usually consists of warming up, team stretching and then practicing the category they compete in. With a big team, that is still growing, the team worked well together to help each other meet their goals in order to maintain their impressive season.

Senior Alexa Williams broke the meet record at the Union County Championship with a high jump of 5'8". Soon after, Williams competed at the Meet of Champions where she beat her own record with a high jump of 5'10". While Williams was aiming to set records, senior Jeff Sommer's goal was to have fun and stay in shape as a sprinter. "I love being a part of track because I'm able to show my athletic abilities in competition," says Sommer.

The team loves to encourage one another and the members have come to be like one big family. The seniors were very happy to end the season successfully, and were very sad to say goodbye.

WRESTLING

By Kendall Bohannon

The hassle of getting on a bus and heading to David Brearley High School every day after school is nothing when it comes to these Dayton boys knowing what they're traveling for. Each of these strong guys crave the challenge of wrestling and being a part of a team that supports each other.

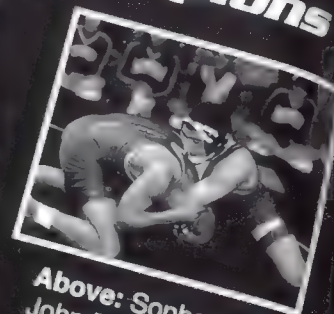

Not each of the wrestlers began their victorious wrestling careers the same. Senior Keith Heleno claims, "At first, wrestling was just something to do during the winter that would keep me in shape until spring came around with track. I found that wrestling was the toughest sport, by far, that I have ever done. Its difficulty made me a lot tougher at the other sports I play, such as football."

Junior Matt Samansky got hooked on this strenuous sport another way. "[Sophomore] John Balboni really got me into wrestling. He would always talk about all the tournaments he and his brother would go to. Just hearing about the things that he and his brother have done in their wrestling careers made me want the same in mine. Also, being on one of the best wrestling teams in the state and learning from the best coaches from college champions to world champions, could be a pretty cool thing to brag about."

The Brearley-Dayton wrestling team isn't one to fool around with. With most players being undefeated or only having one loss makes this team one of the toughest teams to go up against.

In any intense match, these boys can be seen taking down their opponents with their hard work and commitment to one of the best teams in the state/county, Brearley-Dayton co-op wrestling.

The bowling team is a new addition to Dayton Athletics. Dayton had a bowling team many years ago. Coach Fabiano restarted the team last year. In the first year they came back they took fourth place in states. The captain this year is junior Tom Losito. He always has a positive outlook before each match and inspires everyone to do their best. This year they expect to do even better because they were only catching the swing of things last year.

The season has started off great and the team hopes to end it with at least a sectional title. "Although it seems like bowling is an individual sport every pin counts so it makes it a team sport," says Chris Masucci. Bowling is an enjoyable sport to take part in on your free time.

By Blair Godfrey

Joining the golf team is a great way to spend your spring semester at Dayton. They might play individually but their scores count for the entire team. The five returning starters are Nicky Pulice, Nick Bongiovanni, Peter Bianco, Kevin Kirk, and Adam Kennedy. The team practices at the prestigious Baltustrol Golf Course, feeling honored to play on the same course that world famous pro golfers, like Tiger Woods, play on.

There are usually matches three times a week all over Union County at various country clubs. All of the players love how Coach Steinginga helps each of them individually with their game. Although most of the core players are seniors, the boys are confident that the underclassmen will hold the team together for years to come.

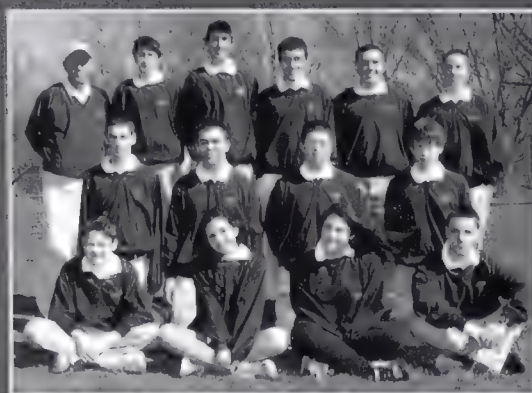

The team also asked to give a shout-out to Alex Melleno, a dedicated member of the team for the past three years who was unable play for the team this year.

Baseball

By Jackie Genovese

Dayton's baseball team has been improving as the years progressed, and this year was no different. With a tougher schedule than previous years, the team really bonded right from the start to ensure a successful season ahead. This year, the boys of baseball decided to demonstrate their solidarity by getting mohawks, so everyone at Dayton could tell who the baseball players were and to show their unity. Their dedication to their team mates and their love for the sport aided in their successful season.

Aside from loving being apart of this team of guys, sophomore Chas Bohannon loves playing baseball and admits that his favorite part of being apart of the team is, "going out on the field and playing as hard as [he] can." Although many love the sport, some face challenges along the way. Second pitcher, junior Ryan Schweikert, says "The most challenging thing about being apart of the team is learning how other teammates deal with certain situations."

With all of their intense practices and games, led by seniors Paul Flores, Darren Farbstein, Joe Piga, Zech Stillitano, and the coaches Abbate, Mullman, Berger, and Steinmen, did a great job keeping the whole team together as a family even outside of baseball. The boys hope to continue more great seasons in the future and they will always have great memories to hold on to throughout their lives.

SOFTBALL

By Kendall Bohannon

The urge to win and do the best has been scratching its way out in each of these talented girls on the Dayton softball team, and now it's their year. With a powerful set of senior leaders and skilled underclassmen, the team is better than ever for the spring 2011 season.

"The team has solidified its fundamentals and has continued to make its mark in the softball world," Coach Wendy Saladino said about the 2011 team, "There is a surplus of competition for each position and everyone is eager to learn and thirsty to win."

With a solid group of seven seniors, a great amount of leadership and skill is brought to the team.

"All the seniors work great together since we've all been on the same team for the past four years. Each of us bring different talents to make the team as it is," senior pitcher Gabby DeFronzo shared.

The talent doesn't just arise from the seniors, though. Each of the underclassmen girls have strong mentalities and strengths to keep the team going past this powerful spring season.

But, through all the individual wants and qualities of each player, the greatest quality of all from this lady Bulldog team is the want to win and make history, which these girls are sure to do.

The girls pump each other up before the game.

BOYS TENNIS

BY REMY SCHNEIER

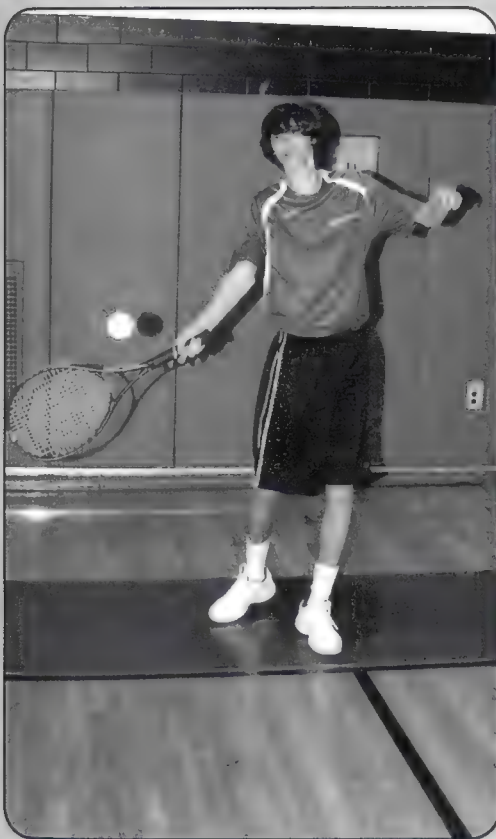

The pressure is always on for the Boys Dayton Tennis Team because of the success the team has had, winning three Group 1 State titles. There are seven starting spots, which include three singles players and two teams of doubles. When asking Matt Neubauer, the captain of this successful team about what he predicts for this season he said, "We go into every season expecting to win, and our goal is to win the Group 1 State Championship... again."

This year the team was led by its four returning starters, Matt Neubauer, Dmitry Suvorov, Ross Konesky, and Zac Corey, with such high expectations for these four young men, Mr. Keele, the coach for the past six years, expected great things from them. As coach, he helped the team to prepare for the season by pushing the boys to their limits in the preseason, especially with conditioning.

As always, the team has high hopes for this season and the team that will continue to be molded in years to come.

During Jonathan Dayton's winter season, several students placed in various meets and events, setting the bar high for Jonathan Dayton's spring track and field season. With over fifteen different events such as high jump, hurdles, and javelin, track and field gives students at Jonathan Dayton a chance to find something that they are good at, or at least love to do. In addition, each event is individual, giving each student who participates a chance to really shine.

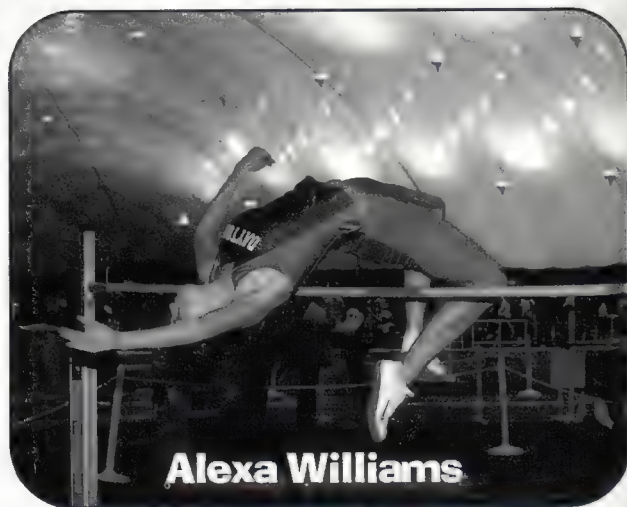

With an outrageously large team this year, Coaches Zika and Cozza look forward to another great season of effort and dedication from all of the teammates. Amid the several seniors participating this season, captain Savonn Maye says, "I am definitely looking forward to hurdles and the two hundred, which are two out of the four events I participate in. Plus, our team is looking pretty good this year."

There is no telling how this year's spring track season will turn out, but the odds are in their favor. With great coaches, teammates, and support, the Jonathan Dayton spring track and field season will surely be a great one. The first meet of the season takes place on April 2nd, and it will only take off from there!

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Between competing in the triple jump, high jump, long jump, and hurdles, senior Alexa Williams is definitely a rising star on Jonathan Dayton's track team. Hoping to win the Meet of Champions again, Alexa says, "My goal is to [high] jump six feet, and I definitely think it is possible!"

This qualified them to move forward to the Group 1 State Championship (which Dayton hasn't won since 1950). The team battled Asbury Park at Rutgers University on March 13, 2011 where they suffered an upsetting defeat. However, senior Justin Grant (shown below) still managed to earn the MVP title for himself. Despite the loss, the dawg pound agrees it will always support its team, win or lose.

BRIGHTON BEACH MEMOIRS

BY: GENNA GINCEL

ON NOVEMBER 19TH AND 20TH, BRIGHTON BEACH MEMOIRS, THE COMING- OF- AGE STORY ABOUT A TEENAGE ASPIRING WRITER AND HIS JEWISH FAMILY SET IN THE 1930S LEADING UP TO WORLD WAR II, WAS PERFORMED ON THE HALSEY HALL STAGE. THE CAST CONSISTED OF SENIORS MAX WEBB (EUGENE), SHANNON MAJEWSKI (KATE), DAN HOCKSTEIN (STANLEY), AND GENNA GINCEL (BLANCHE), JUNIORS JOHNNY FERREIRA (JACK), AND VESNA STOICOVICI (LAURIE) AND MAGNET STUDENT ALY COHEN (NORA). THE CAST REHEARSED FOR ABOUT TWO MONTHS UNDER THE DIRECTION OF MR. DENICOLA. THE REHEARSAL PROCESS WAS A TOUGH JOURNEY. MAX WEBB PROCLAIMED, "LEARNING LINES WAS DEFINITELY THE HARDEST PART OF PREPPING FOR THE SHOW!"

BY OPENING NIGHT, THE CAST WAS PREPARED AND READY TO GIVE THEIR BEST PERFORMANCES AND THEY DID JUST THAT. ON BOTH NIGHTS THE SHOWS WENT GREAT AND WERE VERY SUCCESSFUL. "BEHIND THE SCENES THINGS WERE REALLY STRESSFUL, BUT WE PULLED EVERYTHING TOGETHER AND HAD A GREAT SHOW," SHANNON MAJEWSKI CONFESSED.

ONCE ALL WAS SAID AND DONE, BOTH THE CAST AND THE AUDIENCE LOVED THE PLAY AND MR. DENICOLA COULDN'T CONTAIN HOW PROUD HE WAS OF HIS TALENTED CAST. THIS WAS A SHOW THAT EVERYONE WILL REMEMBER AND THE CAST WILL TREASURE FOREVER.

The spring production of West Side Story, starring seniors Max Webb (Tony), Taylor McQueen (Anita), Shannon Majewski (Anybody's), Ben Cohn (Diesel), and Ashley Polukord (Consuela), took place on March 31, April 1st and 2nd in Halsey Hall Auditorium. Not only was the show a success, rehearsals were just as interesting.

Johnny Ferreira (Bernardo) explained that the Sharks and Jets were not allowed to speak to each other during rehearsals. "I felt fake animosity toward the others especially because we're forced to carry our characters into our real lives."

Freshman Julianna Pica says her favorite moment was when Ben asked Shannon to Prom. Alex Golden and Kristin Hankerson agree that "the best part were 'diva-offs' and off-stage talks with fellow castmates."

While this experience got the underclassmen pumped for next year's show, the seniors are saddened to say good-bye to the Dayton stage. Senior Shannon Majewski shared her inspirational words with the underclassmen. "Savor it while it lasts. Wear deodorant and remember, be nice to the directors because they're in charge of how long rehearsals are."

King of Hearts

By Jessica Gonzalez & Erika Seale

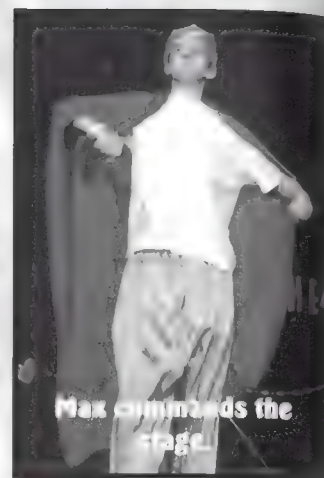

On February 9, 2011, eight contestants competed in Jonathan Dayton's annual King of Hearts. Each contestant showed us their talents, which consisted of senior Kevin Kirk's outstanding cover of Wiz Khalifa's "Black and Yellow" to his own rap which he called "Blue and Orange", to senior Max Webb's "YMCA" dance with Mr. White, Mr. Mangarelli, Mr. Denicolo, and the infamous janitor we all love, Frank Licatese.

In addition to the talent section of the competition, contestants posed in their best swimsuits and walked down the runway in tuxes with their escorts showing us their best "cleaned up" looks.

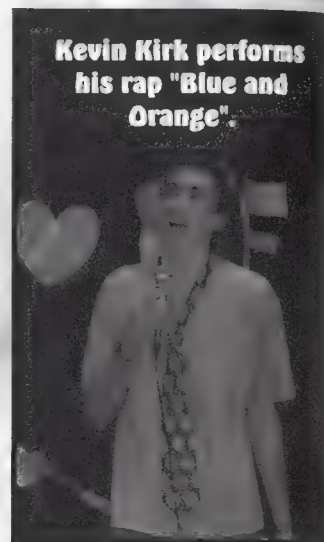

After a hard decision, judges crowned Matt Neubauer as King of Hearts, making this a competition to remember.

The Dayton Coffee House is an event where students showcase their talents, with performances ranging from singing to poetry reading, to even stand-up comedy acts! The idea behind this was to bring students together for a night of relaxing and entertainment, while raising money for the juniors class to help offset the cost of Prom. "Everyone there was hanging out and talking. It seemed to be a great social outing," said Mr. DeNicolo, junior class advisor. The event was such a success, Mr. DeNicolo plans on holding the event again.

MAX WEBB

Dearest Max,

As the stage lights fade to black on the high school part of your story, you move to the big stage and bright lights of college. We watch with awe and continue to cheer you every step of the way. You were born with a smile to light up the sky and a heart that touches everyone you know. Our delight in the child you were is surpassed by our pride in the man you have become. The first act of your life has passed much too quickly. Always know, Max, that we will be right here in the front row for the all the acts that follow. We know that your star will continue to shine brighter than all the lights on Broadway!

Congratulations and We Love You,

COLOPHON

Dear readers, fellow students, and especially the Class of 2011.

As editors, we would like to extend the most sincere gratitude to fellow yearbook staff members for the support and friendships made along the way. We would also like to give a special thanks to our advisor Mrs. Karyn Chomko for her tireless effort and elegance in times of stress. Thank you for being a fantastic mentor, teacher, and friend.

To the Class of 2011: We hope that you continue to look back and enjoy the memories of your senior year. Remember that our class will always be royalty. Congratulations on making it this far and we hope you never forget June 21, 2011 when we collectively throw our caps up. We did it!

Good Luck with Your Future Endeavors.

New Club @ Dayton!

The GSA (Gay Straight Alliance)
 advised by Mr. Krumholz,
 Mrs. Chomko & Ms. Rooney-Kuhn

GSA Mission is:

To create safe environments in schools for students who are questioning their identities and to provide support for one another.

To learn about sexual prejudice and other oppressions.

To educate the school community about sexual prejudice, gender identity, and sexual orientation issues.

To fight discrimination, harassment, and violence in schools.

GSA News

The GSA (Gay Straight Alliance) was the backbone behind a week-long movement promoting acceptance. The club designed "Acceptance" t-shirts, developed a slogan "Turn Your Back on Hate", and was the driving force behind the "Turn You Back on Hate" week here at Dayton. From April 11th - April 15th, club members ran statistics, facts, and videos on the morning announcements bringing to light the discrimination of the lesbian, gay, bi-sexual and transgender community. We were moved to witness how many students participated in April 15, 2011's Day of Silence. We're making progress.
